COMMENTS ON STATEMENT OF REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

Sir:

The Notice of Allowance mailed January 5, 2004, includes an Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance (Page 8). The Reasons for Allowance states that "The prior art fails to specifically including (sic) means or method thereof for contemporaneously playing back the first and second pre-recorded animal sounds (distinct sounds made by a species of animal in an environment) to produce a combination of sounds (i.e., the combination of the pre-recorded first and the second distinct animal sounds) for luring the animal. The controller or means for contemporaneously playing back the recorded animal sound is in response to a first button and a second button of the (sic) being pressed contemporaneously, and wherein the first button is selected to represents (sic) the first pre-recorded animal sound and the second button is selected to represents (sic) the second pre-recorded animal sound."

While Applicant agrees that all of the allowed claims patentably distinguish over the prior art and that the prior art fails to include the combination of features listed in the above-quoted language, Applicant points out that none of the independent claims include all of the limitations included in the above quoted language. For example, none of the allowed claims includes the limitation "a first button and a second button of the (sic) being pressed contemporaneously," nor the limitation that "the first button is selected to represents (sic) the first pre-recorded animal sound and the second button is selected to represents (sic) the second pre-recorded animal sound." (emphasis added) Further, the above-quoted language appears to suggest that the pre-recorded animal sounds are distinct sounds made by a single species of animal, which is a limitation not found in any of the independent claims. These examples are merely illustrative, as additional limitations in the above-quoted language may be absent from one or more of the independent claims.

In view of the foregoing, the allowed claims are not limited in any manner by the language quoted in the Statement of Reasons for Allowance, and each of the independent claims is allowable based solely upon the combination of limitations recited in the claim.

If there are any questions concerning the foregoing, the Examiner is invited to contact the undersigned at the number listed below.

Respectfully submitted,
Gardner et al., Applicants
